Another essential consideration in regrouting is how a edges are treated. Edge and corners must be caulked. Grout begins to contract as the water evaporates and cracks develop. Caulk contains latex or polyester instead of water, as well as insures (if applied properly) corners and edges won't form spaces. Your installer may tell you he provides grout on the inside edges for years and never had a circumstance. We hear pretty much everything the time as we are estimating cleaning Tile Grout with cracked grout within the corners. I suspect subsequently for not caulking are twofold: 1- the trouble one must go to to buy the caulk that matches the color necessary for this grout 2- the strategy for caulking requires patience not everyone has.
