

Color is everywhere and conveys a phone message even when we don't comprehend. While this message can range by culture it pays to know what colors "say" in your own corner of your universe, together with what color means to some target specialized niche.

I aware of a couple that celebrated via cam. The boyfriend bought ordered a cake and blew the candle for his girlfriend on Skype. So from a way, technology has made long distance relationships a whole lot easier to bear.

As far as language or wording in software package goes (e.g. error messages, online help, labels, etc), you wouldn't necessarily require log bugs for those. If you are using a string table, or some form of configuration file like XML, then it is always for the UI person to tweak text by directly accessing the configuration search. For example, if you found "WhatsApp web login error" in the configuration XML file, practical, then focus change that to "the username or password you entered is incorrect".

A last tip will be always to always check into how to manually go out mobile data or askin your phone when begins your travel or the way to switch to be able to your own operator when returning from travel. Smartphones nowadays are very smart, but somehow not smart enough to ask you whether you actually to let down mobile data or calling when you're in roaming (not on the network of the operator). Or perhaps this the killing feature for operators to enjoy enormous profit margins?
